George acha,

Greetings. Feel so good to reconnect with you after a long time. I did publish the Denha Endowment lecture at Dharmaram that you corrected, in the Journal of St. Thomas Christians (Rajkot). Thank you for your help.

Now I would like to add your life story to the website/library of the Christian Musicological Society of India www.thecmsindia.org. With your help and permission, we can do three things:

1. Prepare a Personality page with an article about you, with as many photos as possible. The focus of the article could be on George Nedungatt as a scholar, the topics of his research, application of rigorous research methodology, the impact of his studies on the area of scholarship of his choice, the impact on his doctoral students, and a short biography.
2. A complete list of your publications with full bibliographical data. Preferably, in reverse chronological order
3. Digital copies of as many materials as possible. I used to wait for your articles in Tanima. We can post those articles on our site. There are no copyright issues.. I can ask my team to meet you and they can scan the materials on the site.
4. A videotaped interview. I can mail you questions and you can speak to the camera. My brother, Kuriachan, will meet you at Sameeksha at a convenient time for both of you. Kuriachan will coordinate this with Xavier achan. Can you please suggest the name of one of your students who can write the article on you? I can contact that person.

Have a blessed Christmas. I could not travel to India for the past two summers. Do not know when I will be able to. Please pray for me and bless my team in Kerala.

Thank you George acha

With fond memories of our common friend, Mathias Mundadan, CMI

Joseph Palackal, CMI.
